Bake sale

Bake sales are a fantastic way to fundraise. Who can say no to a slice of cake and a cuppa?

Here are some useful tips for putting on an epic bake sale.

1

Get planning
Set a date for your bake sale and spread the word! Invite your friends and share your event with your local community.

2

How will you be fundraising?
An online fundrasing page can make donations quick and simple. We recommend using JustGiving.

3

Bake it or fake it
Its time to unleash your inner Mary Berry and get creative in the kitchen. Encourage your friends to contribute too. If the thought of using a rolling pin is too daunting, people can always contribute with something nice from the shops.

4

Prepare before the big day
Have your tablecloths ironed, kettles at the ready and mugs in order. Make sure you've got everything you need before the day of your bake sale. Print off our bunting template or blow up some balloons. Get the space looking ready.

See our bunting template

5

Sprinkle over some added fun
Why not put on a quiz as part of the event or add a competitive element to your bake sale to keep it interesting. You could give out prizes for categories like tastiest, prettiest, or most ambitious bake.

6

Food safety
Do not forget to label all baked goods clearly with allergy information and remember to observe best practice when it comes to food hygiene.

Check out Government guidelines

Ambitious about Autism

Ambitious about Autism is a registered charity in England and Wales: 1063184 and a registered company: 03375255.