

Social media and community guidelines

It's important to us that you're able to engage with Ambitious about Autism in a positive and safe online environment. We use a number of social media channels including Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, YouTube and Instagram.

We're keen to help you and hear your views and have put together a short set of guidelines so that anyone who wants to participate in our online discussions can.

We encourage feedback and lively debate however, Ambitious about Autism reserves the right to hide or delete any inappropriate comments or content. In certain circumstances, we will block and/or report any social media users who persist in posting inappropriate comments or content. This could include:

- abusive or obscene comments
- inappropriate or inflammatory language including swearing and hate speech
- inappropriate or graphic imagery
- spam including persistent, off-topic or threatening comments
- personal attacks or deceptive, misleading or defamatory comments
- posts that are in violation of copyright, or any law or regulation.

All opinions expressed on Ambitious about Autism's social media pages represent the thoughts of the individual commenters.

All links to other websites found on our social media sites are provided as a service to readers, but such linking does not constitute endorsement of those sites Ambitious about Autism, and as such we are not responsible for the content of external websites.

By submitting content to any Ambitious about Autism social media pages (wall posts, comments, photos, links, etc.), you understand that this information is publicly available, and that Ambitious about Autism may use this information in internal and external publications and other communications. If you do not wish to have your information published, please do not post that information.